SUBJECT: Update on Training Requirements for Specialized Human Trafficking Designation

PURPOSE: This memo is to clarify the ongoing quarterly training required to maintain an active specialized human trafficking designation status.

BACKGROUND: Chapter 2014-161, Laws of Florida, created s. 409.1754, Florida Statutes (F.S.), Sexually exploited children; screening and assessment; training; case management; task forces. This statute outlines requirements for serving child victims of sexual exploitation and requires "specialized intensive training" for child protective investigators and case managers who are handling cases involving a sexually exploited child. Section 409.1754(2)(a)1, F.S., states:

(2) TRAINING; CASE MANAGEMENT; TASK FORCES.—

(a)1. The department and community-based care lead agencies shall ensure that cases in which a child is alleged, suspected, or known to have been sexually exploited are assigned to child protective investigators and case managers who have specialized intensive training in handling cases involving a sexually exploited child. The department and lead agencies shall ensure that child protective investigators and case managers receive this training before accepting a case involving a sexually exploited child.

The table below outlines the training requirements for child protective investigators (DCF and Sheriff's Offices) and dependency case managers, in order to comply with the law. This training is also extended to DCF licensing staff members.

Guidance about ongoing training requirements and broad parameters for developing local, individualized training in different regions and circuits is included.

Ongoing Training required for Completion of Specialized Human Trafficking

12 months following initial training	1 hour of training per quarter , cannot be combined into one training experience. For a total of 4 hours in the fiscal year.
After first 12 months	1 hour of training per quarter , cannot be combined into one training experience. For a total of 4 hours each fiscal year.

Ongoing training can consist of webinars, independent readings, live trainings or conferences. Task Forces in each area are an excellent resource for trainings.

The Community-Based Care Lead Agencies (CBCs) and Regions will need to track training for their staff. They are responsible for verifying completion of the training prior to acceptance of cases. CBCs and Regions may choose to utilize the Training Tracker functionality located within FSFN.

UPDATE: Maintaining the specialized human trafficking designation is critical. The ongoing quarterly training as outlined above is required to maintain an active designation. If a child protective investigator or dependency case manager misses a quarterly training, they will have the following quarter to make it up and must complete two separate qualified trainings by the end of the second quarter to be able to maintain an active specialized human trafficking designation status.

If two quarters pass without completing a minimum of two, one hour courses, their specialized designation is suspended. While suspended, they may not have any assigned human trafficking victims on their caseload or receive human trafficking investigations. Their suspension can only be reactivated when they catch up on all required quarterly training.

If their suspension is not reactivated within 12 months of the initial receiving of the specialized designation, then they lose their suspension and must start over with all requirements.

ACTION REQUIRED: Please share this memorandum with all child welfare staff members who serve child victims of human trafficking. Licensing staff also are encouraged to attend these trainings. Additional guidance for colleagues who have already completed training and for CBCs interested in developing their own training is below.
